ICD-10-AM First Edition:

Note:

...Most often, the condition will be classifiable to Chapter XIX, Injury, poisoning and certain other consequences of external causes (S00–T98). Causes of death should preferably be tabulated according to both Chapter XIX and Chapter XX, but only if one code is tabulated then the code from Chapter XX should be used in preference. Other conditions that may be stated to be due to external causes are classified in Chapters I to XVIII. For these conditions, codes from Chapter XX should be used to provide additional information for multiple condition analysis only.

CLASSIFICATION AND CODING INSTRUCTIONS FOR TRANSPORT ACCIDENTS

1. If an event is unspecified as to whether it was a traffic or a nontraffic accident, it is assumed to be:
 - (a) A traffic accident when the event is classifiable to categories V10–V82 and V87.
 - (b) A nontraffic accident when the event is classifiable to categories V83–V86. For these categories the victim is either a pedestrian, or an occupant of a vehicle designed primarily for off-road use.
2. When accidents involving more than one kind of transport are reported, the following order of precedence should be used:
 - aircraft and spacecraft (V95–V97)
 - watercraft (V90–V94)
 - other modes of transport (V00–V89, V98–V99)
3. Where transport accident descriptions do not specify the victim as being a vehicle occupant and the victim is described as:

		animal being ridden animal-drawn vehicle bicycle bulldozer bus car motorcycle motorised tricycle pick-up (truck) recreational vehicle streetcar tractor train tram truck van crushed dragged hit injured killed: knocked down run over	by any vehicle including classify the victim as a pedestrian (categories V00–V09).

4. Where transport accident descriptions do not indicate the victim's role, such as:

aeroplane bicycle boat bulldozer bus car motorcycle motorised tricycle
pick-up (truck)	accident collision crash, or wreck	NOS recreational vehicle spacecraft streetcar tractor train tram truck van watercraft

classify the victim as an occupant or rider of the vehicle mentioned.

If more than one vehicle is mentioned, do not make any assumption as to which vehicle was occupied by the victim unless the vehicles are the same. Instead, code to the appropriate categories V87–V88, V90–V94, V95–V97, taking into account the order of precedence given in note 2 above.

5. Where a transport accident, such as:

vehicle (motor)(nonmotor):

- failing to make curve
- going out of control (due to):
- burst tyre [blowout]
- driver falling asleep
- driver inattention
- excessive speed
- failure of mechanical part

resulted in a subsequent collision, classify the accident as a collision. If an accident other than a collision resulted, classify it as a noncollision accident according to the vehicle type involved.

6.	Where a transport accident involving a vehicle in motion, such as:
	accidental poisoning from exhaust gas generated by breakage of any part of explosion of any part of fall, jump or being accidentally pushed from fire starting in	vehicle in motion hit by object thrown into or onto injured by being thrown against some part of, or object in injury from moving part of object falling in or on resulted in a subsequent collision, classify the accident as a collision. If an accident other than a collision resulted, classify it as a noncollision accident according to the vehicle type involved.
7.	Land transport accidents described as:
	collision (due to loss of control) (on highway) between vehicle and:
	abutment (bridge)(overpass) fallen stone guard rail or boundary fence

		V67.- and V77.-
	safety island

The chapter was created for consistency with changes ratified by WHO in 2003. It is not sequenced in alphabetic order, but at the end of the other chapters. Coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19)

TWELFTH EDITION

Background:

In response to the coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) pandemic, emergency use codes were activated in ICD-10 by the World Health Organization (WHO) to identify COVID-19. The emergency use codes were retained in ICD-10-AM Twelfth Edition, with updated code titles and some codes were expanded for additional specificity (see also ICD-10-AM Chronicle Part 1 A–T and Z).

Emergency use codes

TWELFTH EDITION

Background:

The World Health Organization (WHO) reserves a range of codes within ICD-10 for provisional assignment of new diseases of uncertain aetiology or emergency use.

Amendments were made to:

- support the classification of U04.9 Severe acute respiratory syndrome [SARS] separately from coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19)
- capture vaping-related disorders.

WHO has also activated emergency use codes up to U49 Emergency use of U49, with a single code per category (eg U49.9) and Australia used this code structure for ICD-10-AM Twelfth Edition.

- Addition of (s) to a number of code titles, and other minor code amendments
- Amendments to the Table of drugs and chemicals (for the classification of gases/fumes/carbon monoxide related substances)
- Amendment of the following category/code titles to include the concept of 'carbon monoxide':

Provisional assignment of diseases of national significance

TWELFTH EDITION

Background:

The coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) pandemic highlighted the importance of having a range of placeholder disease codes for national emergency use.

Block U75–U77 Provisional assignment of diseases of national significance was created and codes were activated for this purpose for ICD-10-AM Twelfth Edition. This will allow Australia to respond quickly in assigning codes for use in the national interest in the event of a future pandemic or other emergency.

This approach mirrors ICD-11, that reserves a range of international emergency use codes (RA00–RA09) and codes for national provisional assignment (RA20–RA26).

Standardisation of terms 'category', 'subcategory' and 'digit'

EIGHTH EDITION

Background:

In the process of preparation of printing, inconsistencies were identified with the use of terminology at the instruction notes on code subdivisions in ICD-10-AM Tabular List. The terms category, subcategory, block, character and digit have been used interchangeably at fourth and fifth character subdivision notes. To be consistent with the terminology used in other sections of the Tabular List and ICD-10-AM database, it was decided that the term 'category' should be used for three character codes and the term 'subcategory' should be used for fourth character codes. The term 'digit' will be replaced with the term 'character'.

SECOND EDITION

Background:

The note to the External causes of morbidity and mortality chapter

All notes relating to the ICD's primary coding guideline were deleted or revised in the Second Edition. The notes are not relevant in Australia and some conflicted with the Australian Coding Standards.

Changes to the place of occurrence and activity codes

The NCCH, together with the National Injury Surveillance Unit of the Australian Institute of Health and Welfare, worked together to improve the classification of place of occurrence and activity when related to the external cause of injury in Second Edition.

In First Edition, place of occurrence was assigned as a fourth character subdivision for use with categories W00-Y34 (except for Y06 and Y07). Activity was assigned as a fifth character subdivision with categories V01-Y34. In the Second Edition, these concepts were given unique codes (Y92.- for place of occurrence and Y93.- for activity). Implementing unique codes, rather than fourth or fifth character subdivisions, gives greater scope for specificity.

Place of occurrence codes (Y92.-) are assigned with external cause codes V01-Y89. Activity codes (Y93.-) are assigned with external cause codes V01-Y34.

The changes to this section of the classification impacted on some 20,000 codes. Consequently, the individual links that are used throughout the Chronicle to designate codes that were created, revised or deleted, were not built for these codes.

Changes to these codes also represent a concept change. A concept change occurs when the meaning of a code or category in a previous edition changes in a later edition. For these changes in Second Edition, it was necessary to inactivate First Edition codes and reactivate them in the Second Edition as a different concept. Researchers and data analysts need to be aware, when searching for data relating to these codes, that the meaning of the codes has changed between First and Second Editions.

THIRD EDITION

Background:

The External Causes chapter of ICD-10-AM was amended considerably between the Second and Third Editions.

In ICD-10-AM Third Edition sports injury and work related injury are described at a greater level of detail. Other developments reflect changes in patterns of risk (eg the emergence of four-wheel drives as common vehicles on Australian roads), recognition that some useful categories were lost in the change from ICD-9-CM to ICD-10-AM (eg poisoning by motor vehicle exhaust gas), the need for greater specificity in identifying circumstances of some common types of injury (eg falls by children from playground equipment) and the ability to distinguish certain case types that attract interest, though the case frequency may be low (eg shark attacks).

All of the changes provided more specific categories by splitting Second Edition external cause categories. The main changes were as follows:

Transport related injuries

ICD-10-AM Second Edition classified four-wheel drive vehicles in a way that was appropriate for uncommon, special purpose vehicles - briefly and ambiguously. ICD-10-AM Third Edition classifies four-wheel drive vehicles as cars (V40-49) and introduces a fifth character classification to distinguish several major types of four-wheel drive vehicles, including all terrain four-wheel drive vehicles. This approach also enabled distinction of people movers and the much less common but hazardous quad cycles and related four-wheeled motor cycles.

Third Edition also provides the ability to distinguish types of motorcycle, particularly those designed for off-road use (eg dirt bikes and on farms ag bikes).

Transport related injuries are sometimes recorded as being intentional or of undetermined intent. Previously there was no provision to classify the nature of these events in ICD-10-AM. Third Edition, however, provides a fourth character expansion to enable the counterpart (another vehicle, a fixed object etc) to be classified in these cases.

Falls

In Third Edition a fourth character expansion was used to increase the specificity of information about types of recreational conveyances from which falls often occur: W02 Fall involving ice-skates, skis, roller-skates or skateboards, W09 Fall involving playground equipment and W01 Fall on same level from slipping, tripping and stumbling were all expanded to provide greater specificity to the classification.

Sports Injury

In ICD-10-AM Third Edition there was expansion of the list of sports classified to Y93 Activity in Second Edition. However, as it was not possible in Third Edition to expand Y93 to fourth and fifth characters, the entire activity classification was relocated to the previously unused range U50-U73. The list of types of sport is based on the International Classification of External Causes of Injury (ICECI) version 1.

In addition, a fourth character was added to W21 Striking against or struck by sports equipment to better classify circumstances of common sports injury. Finally, the existing category Sports and athletics area in Y92 Place of Occurrence was expanded to distinguish several types of venue (ie outdoor sporting grounds, indoor sporting facilities, swimming centres, racetracks, equestrian facilities, skating rinks and skiing facilities).

Work related injury

ICD-10-AM Third Edition further expanded the Activity classification by providing subcategories for work-related cases occurring in eight major industry sectors (eg mining, construction, health services).

Intentional self harm

A fourth character expansion was added to X67 Intentional self-poisoning by and exposure to other gases and vapours to enable classification of motor vehicle exhaust gas cases. For consistency, the same capability was provided for accidental poisoning, assault and poisoning of undetermined intent.

Assault

ICD-10-AM Third Edition expanded the classification of assault to enable the type of perpetrator to be classified in the whole of the assault section rather than just certain categories. Categories include spouse or domestic partner, parent, carer and person unknown to the victim.

A fourth character expansion of X99 Assault by sharp object was also added to enable distinction of some common (eg knife, glass) and high-interest (eg hypodermic needle) types of cutting and stabbing. For consistency, a parallel fourth character expansion was also added to self-harm and undetermined intent cases involving a sharp object.

Machinery

A fourth character expansion was included at W30 Contact with agricultural machinery to enable classification of major types of agricultural machinery involved in injury. Similar expansion of W31 Contact with other and unspecified machinery enabled identification of other types of injury causing machinery.

Animal-related injury

Several changes in Third Edition enabled specific classification of injury resulting from contact with animals, including:

- Biting distinguished from other types of harm involving dogs (eg being knocked over).
- Falls from horses, and falls from other animals, distinguished from other events in category V80 Animal-rider or occupant of animal-drawn vehicle injured in transport accident.
- Sharks distinguished from other marine animals in W56 Contact with marine animal and platypus from X27 Contact with other specified venomous animals.
- Contact with snakes distinguished according to whether the snake is known to be venomous (in which case categories are provided for several types), or is known to be non-venomous, or its venomous status is unknown – W59 Bitten or crushed by other reptiles and X20 Contact with venomous snakes and lizards.
- Distinction between types of arthropods (eg funnel web and red back spider, jumper ants and fire ants).
- Distinctions between types of venomous marine animals (eg box jellyfish, stone fish and venomous octopus).

Other Changes

Other changes in ICD-10-AM Third Edition include:

- Doors distinguished from other causes of crushing injury (eg of fingers) – W23 Caught, crushed, jammed or pinched in or between objects
- Drowning and immersion in a spa, Jacuzzi or hot tub distinguished from drowning and immersion in a bath or swimming pool.
- Distinction between injury due to contact with hot drink, hot food and hot fat and cooking oil in X10 Contact with hot drinks, food, fats and cooking oils Distinction between running hot water (eg from a tap or shower) and contained hot water (eg in a bath) in X11 Contact with hot tap-water and distinction between steam from motor vehicle radiators, steam or hot vapours from food, and steam or hot vapour from other sources in X13 Contact with steam and hot vapours
- A fifth character expansion for place of occurrence codes that allows for distinction of driveway from other parts of the home and distinction between roadway, sidewalk and cycleway as parts of street and highway. Categories were provided for several types of residential institutions (notably prison and aged care facilities), sporting facilities (as noted above), trade and service areas (eg shop and store, office building, café, hotel and restaurant), industrial and construction areas (eg construction area, demolition site, factory and plant, mine and quarry) and other places (eg stream of water, beach, forest, parking lot).

A category (U90) was created in Chapter 20 External causes of morbidity and mortality and a code created; U90.0 Healthcare associated Staphylococcus aureus bacteraemia – in order to allow reporting of a performance indicator:

The rate of Staphylococcus aureus (including MRSA) bacteraemia is no more than 2.0 per 10,000 occupied bed days for acute care public hospitals by 2011/12 in each state and territory.

The indicator is the performance benchmark (under the Hospital and Related Care – quality and safety heading) under Clause 29 of the National Healthcare Agreement (Staphylococcus aureus (including MRSA) bacteraemia in hospitals). It is anticipated that the indicator will be reported by the COAG Reform Council in a report to COAG in March 2011 and each year after that.
